II. Background and Program Information

A. Office of Public Safety

The NYS Division of Criminal Justice Services is an agency within the Executive Department. Its functions, powers, and duties are described in NYS Executive Law Article 35. There are several offices within the Division, including the Office of Public Safety (the “Office”). The Office’s Administrative Studies Program offers assistance to law enforcement agencies in examining staffing and operational efficiencies. The purpose of these studies is to provide public officials with a professional and objective analysis that may assist decision-making at the local level. Every study is unique and may involve focusing on calls for service, staffing, and scheduling in relation to existing policies and procedures specified by the requesting entity to the Division.

DCJS performs administrative studies pursuant to Executive Law §837 (5) which establishes that DCJS shall: “Conduct studies and analyses of the administration or operations of any criminal justice agency when requested by the head of such agency and make the results thereof available for the benefit of such agency.”

When the Office receives a request to conduct an administrative study from a law enforcement agency, the Office will solicit from the list of potential consultants as to their availability. The Office will select one consultant to assist the Office with the study consistent with the best interests of the State (Specific qualifications are addressed in Section III).

B. Consultant Responsibilities

The primary responsibilities of administrative studies consultants include working with Office staff to meet with law enforcement agency personnel, both in person and via telephone conference call, conduct statistical analysis of data provided by the law enforcement agency, provide results to DCJS as directed, and work in conjunction with DCJS to complete the study.

III. Qualifications and Selection

A. Evaluation of Application

1. Consultants will have a minimum of ten (10) years of experience in the field of law enforcement including: organizational and operational management; statistical analysis; staffing and resource allocation; strategic planning; program evaluation; personnel management; knowledge of current trends in policing; and an understanding of factors that may affect law enforcement agencies in a way that is unique to the communities they serve.

2. Applicants must thoroughly document all qualifying experience in the application.

3. A master’s degree from an accredited college or university in Organizational Leadership, Statistical Data Analysis, Public Administration, or Criminal Justice Administration is not required, but desirable.

The Division will review all submitted applications for responsiveness to the RFA and completeness. All applicants found by the Division to have submitted complete applications, and have demonstrated that they meet the minimum qualifications, will have their names placed on a list of potential consultants. When a need arises for a consultant for an administrative study, the Division will canvas the list and select a consultant from among those individuals who remain interested and available. Selection will be at the sole discretion of the Division, and be based upon the individual’s qualifying experience and educational background to the study to be conducted, a review of references, a telephone interview, and anticipated costs.

4. It is not known yet how many assignments will be available. THERE IS NO GUARANTEE THAT THOSE PLACED ON THE LIST OF POTENTIAL CONSULTANTS WILL BE SELECTED TO CONDUCT ANY STUDIES.

B. Assignments and Compensation

1. Consultants selected for a study or studies will be asked to sign a contractual agreement with the Division prior to providing services. The Agreement will list the consultant’s responsibilities, contractual term, costs, and other legal and financial provisions and necessary requirements.

2. Subject to monies made available for such purpose, Consultants will be compensated at a rate not to exceed $500 per each full day of work (minimum 8 hours) unless otherwise pre-approved in writing by the Division. An hourly rate of $62.50 will be paid for work that does not involve a full day (e.g. phone conferences, statistical analysis and calculations). Consultants selected to conduct studies will be required to keep a detailed log of time spent on the study, including an accounting of the tasks that were completed during the timeframe for which they are requesting compensation, and furnish study results to the Office as directed.

3. The Division does not provide compensation for time spent in travel, although the Division may reimburse for reasonable travel, meal, and lodging expenses in accordance with the State travel rates allowed by the Office of the State Comptroller in its Travel Manual. Any such reimbursement must be pre-approved in writing by the Division.

4. An applicant must respond to any consultant inquiry from the Division to provide consultant services within ten (10) business days of said request. An applicant who responds and is not available to provide services when contacted by the Division will not be removed from the list of potential consultants.
