Program Overview

The New York State Law Enforcement Agency Accreditation Program is designed to provide law enforcement executives of eligible police departments and sheriffs’ offices formal recognition of their compliance with 110 professional standards that focus on administration (52), operations (46), and training (12). To obtain accreditation, an agency must develop and implement policies and procedures that comply with all 110 standards.

The program standards, developed by New York State law enforcement professionals and approved by the Law Enforcement Agency Accreditation Council, are designed to enhance the effectiveness, efficiency and professionalism of an agency, promote training and foster public confidence in law enforcement. Accreditation demonstrates that the agency performs in a consistently professional manner, has formalized policies in place to govern its operational practices and procedures, and that its employees contribute to the agency’s mission and know what is expected of them.

Participation in the Law Enforcement Agency Accreditation Program, established by the state in 1989, is voluntary. Executives who want their agencies to participate must submit an application and a participation agreement outlining the responsibilities of the participating parties: the Law Enforcement Agency Accreditation Council; the Division of Criminal Justice Services (DCJS); and the applicant agency. Once an agency has applied, it must develop policies and procedures that are aligned with the program standards, a process that usually takes between six and 24 months, depending on the staff time devoted to the project and the number of policies that must be revised and/or developed to meet the program standards.

When an agency’s executive is confident that the agency can adequately demonstrate compliance with every standard, an assessment is conducted. Assessments occur on-site at the law enforcement agency, performed by three assessors who spend three days reviewing the agency’s written directives and accompanying documentation, conducting interviews and making observations within the agency. If the assessors determine that the agency has demonstrated compliance with all program standards, they submit to the Council a recommendation that the agency be awarded accreditation.

Agencies are accredited for five years, during which time they must maintain compliance with all program standards. Maintaining compliance is determined, in part, by site visits conducted by accreditation program staff from DCJS and the agency’s submission of an Annual Compliance Survey, which is a progress report intended to ensure that any lapses in compliance are identified and remedied. The process repeats every five years for agencies choosing to remain accredited, with reaccreditation occurring after agencies demonstrate that they have maintained compliance with the program standards.

The Law Enforcement Agency Accreditation Council

The Council is the governing body for the program as established through New York State Executive Law §846-h. The Council develops and approves program standards and adopts policies that determine how the program is administered. It also has the sole authority to award accreditation to an agency.

The Council has 17 members as detailed in Subsection 2(a), (i) through (xii) of the Executive Law. Council members are nominated by the New York State Association of Chiefs of Police (three seats); New York State Sheriffs’ Association (three seats); the New York State Deputies Association (one seat); police labor organizations (two seats); New York State Association of Towns (one seat); New York State Conference of Mayors (one seat); New York State Association of Counties (one seat); the New York State Senate and Assembly (one seat each); and the academic community (one seat). The superintendent of New York State Police and commissioner of the New York City Police Department are ex-officio members. All council appointments, except the ex-officio members, are made by the Governor.

The Council presently has three vacancies: one representative of the New York State Sheriff’s Association; one representative of the Association of Counties; and the state Assembly representative. Efforts continue to fill these vacancies to ensure the Council is adequately represented by all stakeholders required by law.

The DCJS Office of Public Safety

DCJS is the agency responsible for administering the Law Enforcement Agency Accreditation Program under Title 9 of the Official Compilation of Codes, Rules and Regulations of the State of New York, Part 6035. Members of the Accreditation Unit within the agency’s Office of Public Safety administer the day-to-day activities of the program in accordance with statute and the policies set forth by the Council. They also provide a significant amount of assistance to program staff of accredited and applicant agencies.

Council Support

Accreditation Unit staff members provide all professional and administrative support to the Council. They coordinate the Council’s quarterly meetings by preparing the agenda, compiling information pertinent to matters up for a vote and keeping the Council informed about updates or potential issues with the program. Accreditation Unit staff members also review Council policies for accuracy and relevance; revise those policies when necessary; and draft new policies based on program needs.

The unit is responsible for ensuring that Council meetings follow all open meetings laws, including arranging for the video recording of meetings so they are available to the public, and preparing and distributing meeting minutes in a timely manner.

Agency Support

Accreditation Unit staff members offer technical assistance and support to agencies pursuing or maintaining accreditation. They explain the intent of standards; aid in program development; offer feedback on agency policies; and provide guidance on how to best demonstrate compliance with the standards. They also assist agencies in overcoming obstacles to becoming accredited and work with accredited agencies to help ensure ongoing compliance with program standards.

Unit staff members work with agency program staff to determine an agency’s readiness for assessment; select assessors for each assignment; handle all logistical arrangements to ensure the agency and the assessors are prepared for the onsite assessment; and monitor the progress of the on-site assessment. Accreditation Unit staff strive to assist every agency in being successfully accredited and in maintaining that designation.
Accreditation Unit staff members visit every accredited agency at least once during the period of accreditation. These site visits are designed to ensure agencies are maintaining compliance with the program and assist in identifying agencies that are facing challenges with compliance. When necessary, unit staff require corrective action plans for agencies struggling to maintain compliance and provide enhanced technical assistance to those agencies to help get them back into compliance. Staff members conducted 63 site visits in 2017.

Finally, in addition to regular technical assistance, accreditation unit staff develop, coordinate and deliver training for agency program managers, command staff and program assessors.

Assessors

DCJS contracts with individuals who conduct the assessments of law enforcement agencies. These program assessors must apply for those positions through a request for applications issued by DCJS approximately every five years, and each assessor must be vetted by DCJS program staff and approved by the Council. Applicants must demonstrate that they have the necessary experience, either through the direct management of their agency’s accreditation program, or through direct supervision of those that manage the program. Once approved by the Council, assessors must attend a day-long training session prior to being considered for assignment to an assessment team. Once assigned, they receive additional on-the-job training by being partnered with the program’s most experienced assessors.

Program Participation

The Law Enforcement Agency Accreditation Program is voluntary. At the end of 2017, 152 agencies were accredited, accounting for about 28 percent of the approximately 540 law enforcement agencies in the state eligible to participate. Accredited agencies employ approximately 58 percent of all New York State police officers and sheriffs’ deputies who work outside of New York City. The number of accredited agencies has increased annually since 2007.

Accredited Agency Activity in 2017

The Council awarded initial accreditation to four agencies at its meetings in the following months:

- September: Lancaster Town Police Department
- December: East Greenbush Town Police Department
  Gloversville City Police Department
  Wayne County Sheriff’s Office

The Council also reaccredited 23 agencies at its meetings:

- March: East Fishkill Town Police Department
  Gates Town Police Department
  Monroe County Sheriff’s Office
  Orangetown Town Police Department
Applicant Agencies

At the end of 2017, 32 agencies were working toward becoming accredited; six of those are already scheduled to undergo their initial assessment in 2018. Appendix A lists all accredited and applicant agencies. A total of 184 agencies are either accredited or actively working toward accreditation.

Withdrawn or Expired Agencies

In 2017, the Otsego County Sheriff’s Office, Johnstown City Police Department, and Dutchess County Sheriff’s Office voluntarily forfeited their accredited status because of difficulty in maintaining the administrative requirements of the program.

2017 Program Updates

Excellence in Policing Symposium

DCJS hosted its first-ever “Excellence in Policing” symposium for accredited agencies and those agencies interested in accreditation. Nearly 200 professionals from 71 accredited and 36 non-accredited agencies attended the two-day symposium, the intent of which was to emphasize that accreditation is directly linked to law enforcement professionals staying educated on the most important and current topics.

Accreditation Unit staff presented on the benefits of accreditation and what it takes to become an accredited agency and the symposium featured national and New York speakers who shared their expertise on current issues in law enforcement, including:

Implicit Bias – a philosophy that all people have often subconscious biases that affect perceptions and actions in their daily lives. This presentation sought to educate law enforcement professionals on how their biases can affect their ability to perform their duties effectively and safely.

Officer Safety and Wellness – this presentation offered an overview of Blue Courage, a transformational educational and leadership development process based on the belief that the well-being of law enforcement officers is critical to ensuring the well-being of the citizens they protect.

Effective Policies – the cornerstones of the Accreditation program are effective policies and ensuring that members of accredited law enforcement agencies are familiar with and trained to those policies. This presentation focused on how policies can help or hurt an organization during litigation and the importance of solid, legally sound policies in managing the departments.

Body-worn Cameras – a panel of New York State law enforcement professionals who have successfully implemented the use of body-worn cameras in their departments shared their experiences with the technology, discussed the obstacles they faced in implementing the program and outlined steps they took to overcome those obstacles.

Social Media – This presentation focused on the use of social media as an effective communication tool.

Procedural Justice – This presentation explored the way that police and other legal authorities interact with the public, and how the characteristics of those interactions shape the public’s view of police, their willingness to obey the law, and ultimately crime rates. It utilized a case study to outline lessons learned and steps that can be taken to improve relations and communications between the police department and the community.

Training

In 2017, the Accreditation Unit offered program manager training in Essex, Westchester and Monroe counties attended by 66 program managers, chief law enforcement officials, command staff, and other agency staff.

Plans for 2018

- Staff will coordinate assessments for 35 accredited agencies due to expire in 2018; six agencies are already scheduled to be assessed for an initial accreditation.
- The Accreditation Unit will work to expand the program through education and outreach.
- Accreditation Unit staff will conduct three program manager trainings and two assessor trainings during the year.

Conclusion

The New York State Law Enforcement Agency Accreditation Program continues to be a source of great pride for the more than 19,000 law enforcement professionals employed by accredited law enforcement agencies. The Council and the Accreditation Unit are committed to the integrity and longevity of the program through continuous evaluation and enhancement to ensure that it meets the ever-changing needs of law enforcement professionals throughout New York State.

INFORMATIONAL ITEMS

7. Program Updates

Withdrawal from Accreditation Program: Hilary McGrath informed the council of the withdrawal of three agencies from the program: the Wayne County Sheriff’s Office; Newburgh Town Police Department; and Otsego County Sheriff’s Office. All agencies noted manpower and budgetary issues as the reason for their withdrawal.

Excellence in Policing Symposium: Ms. McGrath updated the council on the date change of the Excellence in Policing Symposium which is now scheduled for June 1-2, 2017 at the Holiday Inn Saratoga. Ms. McGrath gave a brief overview of the progress being made in coordinating the symposium.

Revisions to Standard 12.1: Ms. McGrath reviewed the issues that were discussed in the previous meeting about standard 12.1 Physical and Psychological Fitness Requirements. Chief Marvin Fischer opened the floor for discussion, noting that some of the council members had discussions about the issue and had spoken with other professionals in the field to get some feedback on it. Chief Fischer explained that it was his belief that as long as an officer had left an agency in good standing and had nothing happen in their career that would be cause for concern, something that would be noted in their employment history, the new psychological exam might not be necessary. Deputy Commissioner Wood then explained in the rules and regulations section 6056 deals with the process of removing an officer’s certification for cause and asked the council if the standard should incorporate that particular section. Further details about the process were discussed and Deputy Commissioner Wood described that the decertification process has a mechanism documenting how an officer retired (with good standing, removed for cause….etc.) After this discussion it was unanimously determined that DCJS staff would draft a revised standard and present it to the council to vote on at the June meeting.

Agency Compliance with Version 8 of the Standards: The final item that was discussed was agencies converting to version 8 of the standards. Ms. McGrath explained the length of times agencies were given to comply and noted there were still three agencies that had not fully converted. The Council began discussion on how they would like to handle these and other agencies that are found to be out of compliance with the new standards. Michael McDonough briefed the council members on the issues with each agency including providing information on how much work still needed to be done for them to become compliant and when the agencies were due for reassessment. After additional discussion it was determined that Ms. McGrath would send out a letter to the agencies from the council stating if they are not in compliance by the June meeting they will be required to attend the meeting and report to the council the reasons for their non-compliance. It was also agreed that if any of the agencies noted full compliance prior to the June meeting, DCJS staff would conduct a site visit to verify the compliance prior to the June meeting. This process will be used for all agencies found to be out of compliance with the new standards as site visits are conducted.

At 10:20 am, Chief Fischer announced that there would be a break in the meeting so visitors would have an opportunity to excuse themselves if necessary.

The meeting reconvened at 10:30 am.

6. Approval of Annual Compliance Surveys

The following reports were submitted for approval for the second quarter of 2017:

Binghamton City Police Department; Cheektowaga Town Police Department; Cicero Town Police Department; Clarkstown Town Police Department; DeWitt Town Police Department; East Rochester Village Police Department; Eastchester Town Police Department; Erie County Sheriff’s Office; Geneseo Village Police Department; Harrison Town Police Department; Haverstraw Town Police Department; Hudson City Police Department; Huntington Bay Village Police Department; Liverpool Village Police Department; Monroe Village Police Department; New Rochelle City Police Department; New Windsor Town Police Department; North Syracuse Village Police Department; Old Westbury Village Police Department; Ontario County Sheriff’s Office; Quogue Village Police Department; Ramapo Town Police Department; Rensselaer City Police Department; Riverhead Town Police Department; Rye Brook Village Police Department; Shelter Island Village Police Department; Stony Point Town Police Department; Suffolk County Police Department; SUNY Police Albany; SUNY Police Cobleskill; SUNY Police Potsdam; Tioga County Sheriff’s Office; Woodbury Town Police Department.
Chief Henderson made a motion to accept the Annual Compliance Surveys received, and Sheriff Povero seconded the motion.

Motion carried – 11 ayes, 0 nay

7. Request for Assessment Extension

Hilary McGrath informed the Council that SUNY Police Alfred was up for reaccreditation this quarter. During their 10 file review it revealed that they still had some updates to make for the new standards. Ms. McGrath indicated that the agency is now ready and should the Council approve the extension, staff is prepared to schedule the agency’s assessment to be voted on at the third quarter meeting. Chief Henderson made a motion to approve the extension and Mr. Wells seconded the motion.

Motion carried – 11 ayes, 0 nay

8. Revision of Standard 12.1

Ms. McGrath informed the Council of the revision that was being proposed to Standard 12.1 based on discussions the Council had at two previous meetings. Ms. McGrath explained that the proposed revision would allow an agency to consider a psychological exam for part-time, lateral or rehired officers provided the officer had a psychological exam by another (or the same) agency in the past and had maintained a valid police training certificate as per General Municipal Law 209-q. The revision still requires any officer working for an accredited agency to have had a psychological exam at some point in career, so the standard is still stronger than previous versions were.

Sheriff Povero made a motion to except the revision and Sheriff Maciol seconded the motion.

Motion carried – 11 ayes, 0 nay

9. Approval of New Assessor

Sergeant Dini made a motion to approve Chief Thomas Cummings of the Southampton Village Police Department as an assessor. Chief Henderson seconded the motion.

Motion carried – 11 ayes, 0 nay

INFORMATIONAL ITEMS

10. Program Updates

Excellence in Policing Symposium: Chief Fisher began by offering his remarks about how the speakers and presentations were excellent and noted the great work done by Ms. McGrath and other DCJS staff members. Ms. McGrath then summarized the symposium, including that there were 220 attendees and that the evaluations completed by the attendees were very positive. She indicated that while the symposium was focused specifically on leadership and current trends in policing, OPS staff did provide two presentations on Accreditation during the symposium lunch breaks. Staff presented on the Benefits of Accreditation, for those in attendance from non-accredited agencies; and Maintaining Accreditation for those in attendance whose agencies were already accredited. She also indicated that she would like to create a half day training program on maintaining accreditation in the future.

Agency Compliance with Version 8 of the Standards: Michael McDonough provided an update to the Council on the three agencies that were noted as being out of compliance at the March meeting. At that meeting, the Council approved the unit’s plan to send the chief law enforcement officers and program managers from those agencies a letter from the Council indicating that they had to be in compliance by the June Council meeting or plan to attend the meeting to provide the council with their plan for becoming compliant again. All three agencies are now in compliance with all of the program standards. Ms. McGrath explained that staff is not aware of any other agencies that currently have significant problems with compliance, but going forward unit staff will continue to use the same method, with the approval of the Council, should the issue arise again.

9. Program Updates

Withdrawal of the Johnstown City Police Department: Ms. McGrath informed the council that the Johnstown Police Department opted to withdraw from the program due to issues within their program. The agency plans to get back on track and apply for their initial accreditation in one year.

Accreditation Lapel Pins: Mrs. McGrath was approached by a member of a SUNY police agency who suggested the Council consider changing the accreditation lapel pins to allow agencies to add the number of times an agency has been reaccredited. The council talked about some logistical problems this could present, such as how the council could monitor that the agency had the correct number on their pins. They talked about wanting to maintain the uniformity of the pins and that if they allowed the change, it would have to be something all agencies would do. Then they talked about the potential cost to each agency having to get all new lapel pins every five years so the number on their pin could be changed. The discussion led the council to decide that the design of the lapel pins should not be changed. Mrs. McGrath indicated she would speak to the person who made the suggestion to inform him of the council’s decision.

Letter to Agencies regarding Electronic File Management Software through Independent Vendors: Mrs. McGrath provided the Council with a memo she sent out to the chief law enforcement officers and program managers of accredited and applicant agencies, which addressed the use of electronic file management software systems purchased through independent vendors. The memo noted that issues have been discovered during the site visits and on-site assessments of agencies using these systems. In particular, certain companies that provide, as part of their software package, policies that are touted as compliant with accreditation standards are not always 100% compliant. Some of the policies are missing components of the standards, especially those that have several bullets included as part of the standard. The memo was sent out primarily to remind agencies that they shouldn’t allow these software programs to take the “thinking” out of the management of the program. The program managers and chief law enforcement officers still need to be vigilant in ensuring that all standards are being met, that any policies provided to them fully meet the standards, and that everything in the software is up to date (such as updates to standards). She also noted that if agencies have questions about whether a policy meets the standard, they should contact DCJS accreditation unit staff and not their vendor representatives.

Council Members – Update: Mrs. McGrath supplied the Council Members with an updated list of members, many of whom were recently reappointed. Mrs. McGrath talked a bit about some of the problems with appointments – that appointments can take anywhere from 6-8 months (or more) to be made once the request is submitted and that when the appointment is finally made, the term starts when the last term ended. The process leads to what seems like a constant state of council members being in holdover status. DCJS will do its part to get the process started sooner so that the term expiration dates of all council members are more current. The Council is currently waiting on appointments from the NYS Sheriff’s Association, NYS Association of Counties, and the NYS Assembly. After discussion from the Council Mrs. McGrath noted she would research whether we can ask that appointment dates begin on the actual date of appointment, rather than being backdated to the date the term last expired, but she believes it’s related to executive law of public officer’s law and likely cannot be changed.

2018 Tentative Meeting Dates: Official motion to accept the 2018 Council meeting dates will occur at the December meeting. Dates for consideration and vote in December are:

- March 8, 2018
- June 7, 2018
- September 6, 2018
- December 13, 2018

INFORMATIONAL ITEMS

10. Program Updates

_Withdrawal of the Dutchess County Sheriff’s Office:_ Ms. McGrath informed the council that the Dutchess County Sheriff’s Office opted to withdraw from the program due to issues within their program. The agency’s goal is to apply for and receive reaccreditation at the June 2018 meeting.

_Council Members Update:_ Ms. McGrath noted that staff is being proactive regarding council vacancies and expiring terms because the process from nomination to appointment is lengthy. Nominations have been made for both the vacant Sheriff and County Executive seats and efforts continue regarding the Assembly nomination. In addition, staff will contact the nominating entities earlier in the process prior to term expiration dates.

_Program Manager Training:_ Hilary McGrath explained to the council that the unit has moved away from past practice of contracting with a program manager or assessor to provide the training. Mike McDonough, a certified instructor, is now providing the training and it has been received quite well. Mr. McDonough briefed the Council on the recent training that was provided to approximately 80 people in Essex, Westchester, and Monroe Counties. He explained that staff-provided training allows the curriculum to be adjusted as needed and to better emphasize areas staff have determined to be problematic through their interactions with program managers and site visits. Mr. McDonough also noted that this method allows more scheduling flexibility to provide it more often and in more locations. Mr. McDonough has incorporated examples from the site visits performed by the accreditation unit staff to make the training more realistic and valuable.

_2018 Program Goals:_ Ms. McGrath provided the Council with information on unit and broader program goals. As a unit, all current publications will be reviewed to ensure they are up to date and relevant; revisions will be made as necessary. In addition, council policies will continue to be regularly reviewed for relevance. Finally, the unit is going to start reviewing the standards section by section for minor changes that have been identified as needing to be made. It is not anticipated that a committee will needed to make these changes as many are simple language changes for correction or clarity. If the unit determines there are more significant changes that need to be made to any of the standards, convening a committee will be considered.

Broader goals include taking steps to expand participation in the program. We believe there are significant benefits to agencies that participate in the program and would like to increase the number of interested agencies across the state. The unit plans to survey currently accredited agencies to get some testimonials how this program specifically and tangibly benefits their agency; survey non-accredited agencies to find out if there are specific obstacles keeping them from participating; and network through the Chief’s and Sheriff’s associations as well as the Conference of Mayors, Association of Towns, and Association of Counties to enhance awareness of the program throughout the State.

In addition, the unit wants to improve on-site assessments through two goals. One is to actively recruit new assessors to expand the current pool. As the program has grown, the need for more assessors to be available each quarter is becoming obvious. In addition, unit staff will enhance assessor training (which will also be provided by Mike McDonough) so we can focus on the areas that we are finding problematic during on-site assessments such as standards that are being misinterpreted and compliance issues that are being regularly missed. The Unit will also develop on-line assessor refresher training that will be mandatory for all assessors to complete to continue being selected for assessments. By improving the training provided to assessors, we hope to enhance the quality of on-site assessments and strengthen the integrity of the program. Deputy Commissioner Wood and Director Sullivan also touched on how well Mr. McDonough has done with the training of the program managers and how well the staff is doing on raising the bar under Ms. McGraths leadership.

Chief Fischer asked for the Councils thoughts on any information they could provide to aid in expanding the program. Supervisor Theobald noted that he is a member of the Association of Towns Executive Committee and offered to present any information provided to him to help expand the program. Mayor Palmieri offered the same regarding the Conference of Mayors. Finally, Sheriff Povero mentioned the Sheriff’s Conference at the end of January and Sheriffs Povero, Maciol, and Virts will support the accreditation unit staff giving a presentation at that conference.

Deputy Commissioner Wood mentioned that OPS staff has spent the last two years updating the basic course for police officers. He noted that the standards would be reviewed through the lens of the updated training so the office can ensure any significant changes to the training are adequately reflected in the standards.

Chief Henderson asked if there were financial benefits that could be tied into participation in the accreditation program. Ms. McGrath noted that other states had insurance programs that provided financial incentives and rate discounts to accredited agencies, something we hope to learn more about. There has also been some preliminary discussion internally about tying accreditation into grant funding, perhaps through additional points for accredited agencies when applications are being rated. However, these types of decisions cannot be made by accreditation unit staff and will need to be researched more.

Mr. Richard Wells also suggested expanding council terms due to the amount of time it takes for appointments to be made. Director Sullivan noted that doing so would require change to the executive law, which is difficult, but it is something we will consider in the future.

At the end of the meeting there was some additional discussion on body worn cameras and specific standards concerning them. Commissioner Wood and Ms. McGrath noted that it could at some point be determined as an appropriate step to add a standard on this topic. It was agreed that the issue would be brought up again later.
